STRING BASS EXCERPT 1

This excerpt is from Richard Strauss' early tone poem Don Juan. Some of you may already be familiar with the piece. If not I suggest giving it a listen from beginning to end. Not only is it one of the great symphonic works of the late romantic period, it is also filled with difficult music and is used as an excerpt frequently for orchestral auditions on many instruments. The example we've asked you to prepare is from the first half of the work. It is conducted in 2, so each beat is a half note. The tempo indication is approximate and there are no printed bowings, so you will need to discover for yourself and with your teacher what will work best for you. The following youtube video demonstrates an excellent performance of the piece. I encourage you to use it, or any others, for reference. It has been recorded, at one point or another, by most of the world's great orchestras, so you should not have any trouble finding examples to refer to.

STRING BASS EXCERPT 2

This excerpt is from the final movement of Symphony No. 3 "Organ" by Camille Saint-Saëns. The following video may be of use in preparation, though it needn't be copied exactly. Choose bowings and a tempo that work for you and are consistent with the performance tradition of this movement. The indicated markings are just suggestions, as is this performance example.
